THE HISTORY OF THE

REIGN OF

THE

A D D R E S S
OF THE
HOUSE OF COMMONS OF GREAT BRITAIN
TO HIS MAJESTY:

EXTRACTED FROM THE VOTES,
Veneris, 11^o die Julii, Anno 40^o Georgii 3ⁱⁱ Regis, 1800.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, Your MAJESTY's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons of Great Britain in Parliament assembled, having taken into our Consideration the State of the Public Records of this Kingdom, and the Necessity of providing for the better Arrangement, Preservation, and more convenient Use of the same, humbly beg leave to lay before Your Majesty the Report of our Proceedings thereon; and to represent to Your Majesty, that in several of the Principal Offices we have found the Public Records preserved with great Order and Regularity, and in some few, with a Method and Care which are exemplary; but that, in many of the most important Offices, they are wholly unarranged, undescribed, and unascertained; that some of them are exposed to Erasure, Alteration, and Embezzlement, and others are lodged in Places where they are daily perishing by Damp, or incurring a continual Risk of Destruction by Fire.

A Period of nearly Seventy Years has elapsed since the last General Parliamentary Inquiry upon this Subject; and, during this Interval of Time, the Change which has taken place in the Language and written Character of Judicial Proceedings, as well as the large Accumulation of Materials which has been progressively superadded in every Department, have increased the Difficulties of methodizing the several Repositories, or applying their Contents to Purposes of practical Use.

In the Course of our Inquiry we have found that many of the Public Buildings allotted to these Uses, and especially those Buildings which belong to Your Majesty's Exchequer in all its Branches, comprehending the ancient Records and Muniments of the Rights and Possessions of the Crown, and the Vouchers and Accounts of the Public Revenues and Expenditure, are in a State so incommodious and insecure, as to require immediate Attention.

It has also appeared to us, that the salutary Measures heretofore adopted by Your Majesty's Authority, for methodizing the Contents of some of the principal Repositories of Your Majesty's Records and Papers of State, might also be extended to many other Repositories, with Consequences highly beneficial to the Public Service.

And the same Motives which encouraged our Predecessors to intreat Your Majesty's Directions for printing the ancient Records of Domesday, and the Rolls of Parliament, have also induced us to submit to Your Majesty's Wisdom, our Desire of extending the same Measure to other ancient and valuable Monuments of our History, Laws, and Government.

also

Your faithful Commons do therefore most humbly beseech Your Majesty, that You will be graciously pleased to give such Directions as Your Majesty, in Your great Wisdom, shall think fit, for the better Preservation, Arrangement, and more convenient Use of the Public Records of this Kingdom.

And we beg leave further to assure Your Majesty, that whatever extraordinary Expenses may be incurred by the Directions which Your Majesty, in Your great Wisdom, shall think fit to give on this Occasion, shall be cheerfully provided for and made good by Your faithful Commons.

Jovis, 17^o die Julii ;

Anno 40^o Georgii 3^{um} Regis, 1800.

Mr. Chancellor of the Exchequer reported to the House, That their Address of Friday last (that His Majesty would be graciously pleased to give such Directions as He shall think fit, for the better Preservation, Arrangement, and more convenient Use of the Public Records of this Kingdom; and to assure His Majesty, that whatever extraordinary Expenses may be incurred by the Directions which His Majesty shall think fit to give on this Occasion, shall be made good by His faithful Commons) had been presented to His Majesty; and that His Majesty had commanded him to acquaint this House, that He will give Directions as desired by the said Address.

COMMISSION

For executing the Measures recommended by the House of Commons respecting the PUBLIC RECORDS OF THE KINGDOM.

GEORGE R.

GEORGE THE THIRD by the Grace of God King of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c.

To Our right trusty and right entirely beloved Cousin and Councillor William Henry Cavendish Duke of Portland, Knight of the most noble Order of the Garter; Our right trusty and well beloved Councillors William Wyndham Baron Grenville, and Henry Dundas, Esquire, Our Three Principal Secretaries of State; Our right trusty and well beloved Councillors Henry Addington, Esquire, Speaker of the House of Commons, William Pitt, Esquire, Chancellor and Under Treasurer of Our Exchequer, and First Commissioner of Our Treasury, Sir Richard Pepper Arden, Knight, Master of the Rolls; Frederick Campbell, Esquire, commonly called Lord Frederick Campbell, Our Clerk Register of Scotland, Sylvester Douglas, Esquire, one of the Commissioners of Our Treasury, Our trusty and well beloved Sir John Mitford, Knight, Our Attorney General, Sir William Grant, Knight, Our Solicitor General, Robert Dundas, Esquire, Our Advocate for Scotland, and Charles Abbot, Esquire; Greeting.

WHEREAS the Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses and Commissioners of Shires and Boroughs, in Our Parliament of Great Britain assembled, having taken into their Consideration the State of the Public Records of this Kingdom, and the Necessity of providing for the better Arrangement, Arrangement, Preservation, and more convenient Use of the same ; have humbly laid before Us a Report of their Proceedings thereon ; and have also humbly represented unto Us, that the Public Records of the Kingdom are in many Offices unarranged, undescribed, and unascertained ; that many of them are exposed to Erasure, Alteration, and Embezzlement, and are lodged in Buildings incommodious and insecure ; and that it would be beneficial for the Public Service, that the Records and Papers contained in many of the principal Offices and Repositories should be methodized, and that certain of the more ancient and valuable amongst them should be printed ; and have humbly besought Us that We would be graciously pleased to give such Directions thereupon as We in Our Wisdom shall think fit.

Now know ye, That We, considering the Premises, and earnestly desiring more effectually to provide for the better Arrangement, Preservation, and more convenient Use of the said Records and Papers, and reposing great Trust and Confidence in your Fidelity, Discretion, and Integrity :

Have authorized and appointed, and by these Presents Do authorize and appoint you the said William Henry Cavendish Duke of Portland, William Wyndham Baron Grenville, Henry Dundas, Henry Addington, William Pitt, Sir Richard Pepper Arden, Frederick Campbell (commonly called Lord Frederick Campbell), Sylvester Douglas, Sir John Mitford, Sir William Grant, Robert Dundas, and Charles Abbot, and any Three or more of you, to make a diligent and particular Inquiry into the several Matters which Our faithful Commons have, in the abovementioned Report of their Proceedings, represented as fitting to be provided for by Our Royal Authority.

And furthermore, We do by these Presents give and grant to you Our said Commissioners, and any Three or more of you, full Power and Authority to cause all and singular the Officers, Clerks, and Ministers of the said Offices and Repositories respectively, to bring and produce upon Oath before you, or any Three or more of you, all and singular Rolls, Records, Books, and Papers, or other Writings belonging to the said Offices or Repositories, or any of them, or any Officers within the same, and which shall be in the Custody of them or any of them respectively.

And Our further Will and Pleasure is, That ye, or any Three or more of you, upon due Examination of the Premises, shall cause such Matters to be duly and speedily executed as ye shall judge fitting and proper to be done, for the more effectual Execution of the several Measures recommended by our faithful Commons in the said Report of their Proceedings relative thereto.

And to the end that Our Royal Will and Pleasure in the Premises may be executed with the greater Regularity and Expedition, We further by these Presents will and command, and do hereby give full Power and Authority to you, or any Three or more of you, to nominate and appoint from Time to Time such Person of Ability, Care, and Diligence, as ye shall think fit, to be and act as your Clerk or Secretary, for the Purpose of aiding you in the Execution of these Presents ; and also to nominate and appoint in like Manner such several Persons of Ability, Care, and Diligence, as ye may think fit, to be Sub-Commissioners, to be employed under your Direction and Controul in the Premises, and more especially to methodize, regulate, and digest the Records, Rolls, Instruments, Books, and Papers, in any of Our Public Offices and Repositories, and to cause such of the said Records, Rolls, Instruments, Books, and Papers as are decayed, and in Danger of being destroyed, to be bound and secured ; and to make exact Calendars and Indexes thereof ; and to superintend the printing of such Calendars and Indexes, and original Records and Papers, as ye shall cause to be printed : Which said Clerk or Secretary, and Sub-Commissioners, and every of them, shall and may be removed by you, or any Three of you, from Time to Time, at your Will and Pleasure, full Power and Authority being hereby given to you to appoint others in their Places respectively.

And We further will and command, and by these Presents ordain, That ye, or any Three or more of you, shall from Time to Time certify, under your Hands and Seals, unto Our Lord High Treasurer, or unto the Commissioners of Our Treasury for the Time being, what shall be a fit and suitable Recompence to the above-mentioned Clerk or Secretary, and Sub-Commissioners respectively, for their Pains and Services in the Execution of the Duties hereby required to be by them performed ; which said Recompence it is Our Will and Pleasure shall thereupon be paid to them respectively and accordingly.

And

And Our further Will and Pleasure is, That ye, or any Three or more of you, do and shall, on or before the 25th Day of March in the Year of our Lord 1801, and so from Year to Year, on or before the 25th Day of March in each Year respectively, so long as this Commission shall continue in force, certify unto Us in Our Privy Council, under your Hands and Seals respectively, all and every of the several Proceedings of yourselves and of the said Sub-Commissioners had by virtue of these Presents, together with such other Matters (if any) as may be deserving of Our Royal Consideration touching or concerning the Premises, and what further Measures (if any) ye shall think fit to propose thereupon.

And lastly, We do by these Presents ordain that this Our Commission shall continue in full Force and Virtue; and that ye Our said Commissioners, or any Three or more of you, shall and may from Time to Time, and at any Place or Places, proceed in the Execution thereof and of every Matter and Thing therein contained, although the same be not continued from Time to Time by Adjournment.

Given at Our Court, &c. the 19th Day of July, in the Year of Our Lord 1800.

O R D E R.

At a Board of the Commissioners appointed by His Majesty for carrying into Execution the Measures recommended by the House of Commons respecting the Public Records of the Kingdom, &c.

Holden at the House of the Right Honourable The Speaker of the House of Commons, the 15th Day of June 1810,

P R E S E N T,

The Right Honourable CHARLES ABBOT, Speaker of the House of Commons,
The Right Honourable Lord FREDERICK CAMPBELL,
The Right Honourable JOHN LORD REDESDALE,
The Right Honourable SYLVESTER LORD GLENBERVIE,
The Right Honourable Sir WILLIAM GRANT, Master of the Rolls,

IT WAS ORDERED, That the Secretary do write to the Trustees of the British Museum, to express the Desire of this Board, that the Catalogue of the LANSDOWNE MSS. be revised, corrected, and printed, with proper Indexes of Persons, Places, and Matters, and to acquaint them that the Commissioners will provide for the due Execution of the Work.

John Caley, Secretary.

P R E F A C E.

THE Collection of Manuscripts which forms the subject of the present Catalogue was purchased in 1807 by a Vote of Parliament of the representatives of the then late Marquis of Lansdowne, for the sum of 4925*l*.

It is divided into two Parts; the first division or class consisting of the Burghley Papers only; the second comprehending the remainder of the manuscripts in general, including the Cæsar and Kennett Papers.

Of the Burghley Papers, one volume contains copies of charters and other documents of an early period; but the remainder, amounting to one hundred and twenty-one volumes in folio, consist of state-papers, interspersed with miscellaneous correspondence, during the long reign of Queen Elizabeth; and among these is the private memorandum-book of Lord Burghley. The Burghley Papers descended from Sir Michael Hikes, Lord Burghley's secretary, to his great-grandson Sir William Hikes, who about 1682 sold them to Richard Chiswell, a stationer in London, who again disposed of them to the reverend John Strype, vicar of Low-Leighton in Essex. On Strype's decease, his representatives sold them to Mr. James West. Strype, it need scarcely be added, had made an extensive use of these papers in his different works on English ecclesiastical history. After Mr. West's death, they came into the possession of Lord Lansdowne.

To this part of the Catalogue, on account of the importance of the papers, a separate Index has been added.

Of the remaining manuscripts, in a series of more than fifty volumes are comprised a large portion of the papers and correspondence of Sir Julius Cæsar, Judge of the Admiralty in Queen Elizabeth's time, and Chancellor of the Exchequer and Master of the Rolls in the time of King James the First and King Charles the First. Sir Julius Cæsar's Manuscripts, consisting originally of one hundred and eighty-seven volumes, were dispersed by auction in 1757, when nearly one-third of the collection was purchased in single lots by Philip Carteret Webb, Esq., after whose death they were again purchased, together with other manuscripts, by Lord Lansdowne, at that time Earl of Shelburne. Of the volumes purchased by Mr. Webb, and now in the Lansdowne Collection, thirty-one relate directly or in part to Admiralty concerns; ten to Court of Request, Treasury, Star-chamber, and Exchequer business; three to ecclesiastical matters; two contain copies of treaties; one relates to the state and government of Ireland; and the rest are historical, parliamentary, &c,

The papers of Dr. White Kennett, Bishop of Peterborough, extend through a hundred and seven volumes of different sizes; the greater part written by the bishop's own hand. Of these, many relate to English ecclesiastical history, containing collections from ecclesiastical records, notes from cathedral and abbey registers, transcripts from old manuscript tracts and printed books, collections for the History of Convocations, &c. An immense volume, entitled "Diptycha Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ," contains an account of the regular succession of all the principal dignitaries of the different cathedrals of England and Wales, from the time of the Norman Conquest to the reign of King William III., together with an attempt at a series of the abbats, priors, and prioresses of different monasteries alphabetically arranged; the whole abstracted from patent rolls, chartularies, chronicles, &c. Eleven volumes contain Bishop Kennett's Biographical Memorials, mostly of the English clergy, from 1500 to 1717. Eight volumes contain collections for a Register and Chronicle of the Church of England from 1660 to 1679¹. Four volumes contain materials for an Ecclesiastical History of England from 1500 to 1717. Eight or ten contain collections for a History of the Diocese of Peterborough: and one is filled with etymological collections². Some of these manuscripts have been the materials for the bishop's printed works; but the larger and more miscellaneous quantity, particularly in biography and local history, have been unused.

Exclusive of these larger series, the Lansdowne Collection of Manuscripts comprehends many valuable works on different subjects.

In British History, Topography, and Jurisprudence, for the limited extent of the collection, it is particularly rich. And here, a beautifully illuminated manuscript of Hardyng's Chronicle³, as it was presented by its author to King Henry the Sixth, in the middle of his reign, deserves especial notice. It was formerly Sir Robert Cotton's; and differs from the printed copies of the Chronicle (which come down to King Edward the Fourth's time) so much, as not even to admit of collation. Here, also, may be noticed a fair transcript of the Chronicle of Andrew of Wyntown⁴, "A Collection of Laws, Statutes, Orders, Commissions, and Treaties, relating to the Marches or Borders of Scotland, as made and agreed on by the respective Sovereigns of England and Scotland, from 1249 to 1597⁵;" "A Collection of Royal Proclamations, from the 19th of Henry VII. to the 17th Cha. I.⁶;" and three volumes of original correspondence⁷, the first containing Letters written by royal, noble, and eminent persons of Great Britain, from the time of King Henry the Sixth to the reign of His present Majesty; the second and third, Letters written by foreign sovereign Princes, and other eminent Strangers, during the sixteenth, seventeenth, and eighteenth centuries. Amongst the more important documents in the first of these volumes is the memorable letter of Lady Jane Gray, as Queen of England, to the Marquis of Northampton, requiring his allegiance against what she calls "the fayned and untrew clayme of the Lady Mary, bastard daughter to our great uncle Henry theight of famous memorye."

Three portfolios contain original letters written in the years 1655, 1656, 1657, and 1658 by various persons to Henry Cromwell, when Chief-governor of Ireland⁸, being a part of those used by Dr. Birch, the editor of Secretary Thurloe's State Papers: two volumes of papers, also, formerly belonging to William Bridgeman, Esq.⁹, Under-secretary to the Earl of Sunderland in the time of King James the Second, and Secretary to the Board of Admiralty in the time of King William the Third, contain the principal depositions taken before the Privy Council at the time of Monmouth's rebellion.

In Topography, exclusive of Mr. Warburton's collections for Yorkshire¹⁰, and a large and very curious assemblage of epitaphs and arms, drawings of monuments, painted glass, &c. chiefly collected by Nicholas Charles, Esq. Lancaster Herald in the time of James the First¹¹, are numerous abbey and other registers or chartularies. Amongst them are registers of the Priory of St. John of Jerusalem¹², of Harewood Priory in Yorkshire¹³, of Lunda, Monk Bretton or Breton Priory in the same county¹⁴, of Gerondon in Leicestershire¹⁵, of Malmesbury Abbey¹⁶, of the Abbey of Melsa or Meaux in Yorkshire¹⁷, two registers of Chertsey Abbey¹⁸, and one of the prebendal church of Edyndon in Wiltshire¹⁹. Registers of the Almoner of St. Albans²⁰, and of the Infirmary of St. Edmundsbury Abbey²¹: a register of the muniments of Oriel College, Oxford, compiled in 1397²²: a register-book of the Archbishop of York, written about 1309²³: and a rental of the Priory of Coventry²⁴. There is also a fragment of a register of the Priory of Christ Church or the Holy Trinity in London²⁵.

Five volumes contain Mr. Petyt's parliamentary collections²⁶; beside several other manuscripts relating to parliamentary history and proceedings. There is likewise a very valuable treatise on the Court of Star-chamber, written in the time of King James the First and King Charles the First, by William Hudson, Esq. of Gray's Inn²⁷; an ancient transcript of the Testa de Nevil²⁸: numerous manuscripts of the "Antiqua" and "Nova Statuta²⁹;" and fifteen volumes of selections from the patent rolls in the

Tower of London¹. Above fifty volumes contain reports of law cases, from the time of King Henry the Eighth to the time of King Charles the First², beside numerous other volumes of law collections, readings, entries, pleadings, &c.

The heraldical and armorial manuscripts in this collection are rather numerous, by Segar, Lee, the St. Georges, Dugdale, Harvey, Le Neve, &c. together with a curious volume of papers, chiefly of the 15th century, illustrating the institutions of chivalry in England; the greater part of which once belonged to Sir John Paston of Norfolk³. There are also several manuscripts relating to coronations⁴.

Upon coin and coinage there is a valuable work, which seems to have been intended for publication by its author, entitled "Brief Memoires relating to the Silver and Gold Coins of England, with an Account of the Corruption of the hammer'd Moneys, and of the Reform by the late grand Coynage at the Tower, and the Five Country Mints, in the Years 1696, 1697, 1698, and 1699," by Hopton Haynes, Esq. Assay Master of the Mint, A.D. 1700⁵.

In biblical learning the Lansdowne Collection possesses two volumes of particular interest. One is a fine manuscript of part of the Old Testament in English, as translated by Wicliffe⁶; the other is a volume elegantly written on vellum and illuminated, containing part of a French Bible translated by Raoul de Presle or Praelles, at the command of Charles the Fifth of France⁷; a version of extreme rarity even in that country. Among the few manuscripts in theology also, are five volumes of Saxon homilies transcribed by Mr. Elstob and his sister⁸.

Of classical manuscripts there are copies of Cicero "de Rhetorica" and "de Officiis"⁹ of the fifteenth century; a copy of Martial of the fourteenth¹⁰; Virgil¹¹, Suetonius¹², and the works of Boethius¹³ of the fifteenth; a manuscript containing part of Horace, with the Satires of Juvenal and Persius, which formerly belonged to Matthias Corvinus, King of Hungary, of the fifteenth century¹⁴; and a fac-simile of the celebrated Virgil in the Vatican Library, made by Bartoli in 1642¹⁵. There is also a French translation of the first ten books of Livy, by Pierre Berceure or Bercheur, of the fourteenth century¹⁶.

In poetry, beside two beautiful manuscripts of the fifteenth century, on vellum, one containing the Sonnets of Petrarch¹⁷, the other the Comedia of Dante¹⁸, is a very fair and perfect copy, also on vellum, of the Canterbury Tales of Chaucer¹⁹, written about the reign of Henry the Fifth, in the initial letter of which is a full-length portrait of the author. In this department of literature also may be named, a volume, partly on vellum and partly on paper²⁰, containing a collection of the Poems of John Lydgate, monk of Bury, many of which have never been printed; an unpublished poem by Skelton, entitled "The Image of Ypocresye"²¹, believed to be the author's autograph; and a translation by Hugh of Caumpeden, of "The History of King Boccus and Sydracke the philosopher"²².

There is likewise a volume containing near twenty very interesting Treatises on Musick of the fifteenth century²³, originally belonging to John Wylde, precentor of Waltham-Abbey, and afterwards to Thomas Tallys, organist to King Henry the Eighth; a manuscript which has been particularly commented upon by Sir John Hawkins and Dr. Burney in their respective Histories of Musick.

Among articles of a miscellaneous nature may be noticed eleven volumes of the Papers of Dr. John Pell²⁴, Envoy from Oliver Cromwell to the Protestant cantons of Switzerland between 1654 and 1658; five volumes of Sir Paul Rycaut's Papers²⁵, containing not only Letters, &c. of a public nature, while Sir Paul Rycaut was Secretary to the Earl of Clarendon in Ireland in the reign of James the Second, but also his Letters and Papers relating to public transactions while resident at Hamburgh and the other Hanse Towns; three volumes of the Earl of Melfort's Letters during his negotiation at Rome in 1690²⁶; a volume of original Letters from Mr. Thomas Hearne, of Edmund Hall, Oxford, to Mr. James West, principally on subjects of Literature²⁷; and two volumes of a Diary kept by Humphrey Wanley, of occurrences relating to the Earl of Oxford's Library and Collections, whilst under his care, from 1715 to 1726²⁸.

It may be proper to add that the Burghley Papers, with a very large portion of the Numbers in the second part of the present volume, were catalogued by Francis Douce, Esq. the late Keeper of the Manuscripts in the British Museum. The remainder, including the Cæsar and Kennett Papers, with about two hundred other volumes, together with the revision of the whole of the Second Part, was made by the present Keeper of the Manuscripts.

This letter also contains a very interesting account of the insolent conduct of the Polish Ambassador towards the Queen, in public, and of Her Majesty's spirited and dignified conduct on this occasion. (See Mr. Camden's Annals, under the year 1597.) It concludes with desiring the Earl to take notice in his answer that he was pleased to hear of the Queen's "wise and eloquent answer." It appears that the Secretary had not written this letter with his own hand, on account of a hurt in his thumb; but though the signature has for some unknown purpose been cut out, it has no appearance of being the original, nor has it any superscription, July 26, 1597.

Compare with Num. 94, Art. 50, of these collections, and with Camden's Annals.

A volume containing copies of instructions from the Council to Sir Francis Walsingham, during his embassy at the French Court in the years 1570, 1571 and 1572; and of his dispatches to Lord Burghley and other Members of the Council.

It also contains copies of other instructions to Sir Henry Norris and to the Earl of Lincoln, Lord High Admiral, who were sent as Ambassadors to France in aid of Sir Thomas Smith and Sir Fra. Walsingham; together with their dispatches to the Council. The instructions seem, for the most part, to have been drawn up by Lord Burghley. The letters include a great variety of political and other matters, in a general correspondence between the above parties, but chiefly concern Sir Francis Walsingham and Lord Burghley. The volume, in all probability, belonged to Sir Francis.

A box or portfolio case, containing a private memorandum book, wholly in the hand-writing of Sir William Cecil, afterwards Lord Burghley; containing, among many other matters, a very curious and minute account of his estate in lands and other effects; of his family, household, and expenditures between the years 1552 and 1557.

This book was found among the collections of Lord Burghley's Secretary, Sir Michael Hicks, purchased by Mr. Strype, who refers to it in his Annals. It is also quoted, in all probability with Mr. Strype's permission, by the authors of the Biographia Britannica in their account of Lord Burghley, and by Mr. Peck in his Desiderata Curiosa. About fifty of the leaves had been taken out or lost before it became the property of the public. In fo. 2 there is a table of its contents by Lord Burghley himself: but this was found so very brief and defective, that it was thought necessary to compile the following particular, and it is presumed more accurate description of the volume.

1. Memorandums of money lent, and some other matters, fo. 1.
2. Table of contents of the volume, by Sir Wm. Cecil, fo. 2.
3. Valuation of money, fo. 2, b.
4. A sum total of some account, fo. 3.
- Written in Greek characters for the purpose of secrecy.
5. A pedigree of the Burghley family; with an additional paper of the same kind found loose in the volume, fo. 4, b.
6. "A breff extract owt of a pardō whby. may appere what offence mē ought to beware," fo. 5.
7. A note of purchase of lands made by Sir Wm. Cecil, anno 7 Ed. 6th fo. 5, b.
8. "A breffe value of my lands," fo. 6.
9. The account of George Williams, Gent. Receiver to Sir Wm. Cecil, anno 6th Ed. 6th fo. 12.

 73. An account of what ready money he had in the year 1554, with a memorandum relating to his keys, fo. 94.
 The sums total carefully obliterated.
 74. Sundry memorandums of receipts and payments, of the value of wood and land, with an entry that he was weighed in his jacket at Mr. Bacon's house in Thames-street, Aug. 7, 1553, his weight being 131 pounds, fo. 94, b.

Num. 118, 119.

75. Notes concerning part of his landed property, fo. 95, 96.

These two leaves were found in the present manuscript, but seem not to have originally belonged to it.

With this manuscript has been since deposited another small quarto volume, purchased at Mr. Gough's sale in 1810, on account of its connexion with the present. Of this the following is a description.

An Almanack, for the year 1463.

Written on vellum. It belonged to Sir Wm. Cecil, who, with his own hand, has written on some of the margins these memorandums relating to his family.

"22 [Feb.] A. 1543, Mortua est Maria Cecilia."

"A° D. 1541, Veni in cōmeatū apud Grayes lu."

This belongs to the 6 May.

"1542, Natus Thomas Cecill."

This to the 1 May.

"viii Aug. a° 1541, duxi in uxorē Mariā Cheke."

"13 [Sept.] A° 1521. 13 H. 8. Hoc die natus sū W. Cecyll a° Dñi"

This memorandum should seem, on a first view, to determine a doubtful entry in the other manuscript, where he has twice entered his birth; and yet in that manuscript he must certainly mean to say he was born in 1520; for he also states that in 1541 he was twenty-one years old, and in 1542 twenty-two; both which declarations make him born in 1520. He appears to have first entered his nativity under the year 1521, and then to have altered it to 1520.

"21 [Dec.] 1545, duxi in uxorē Mildre Coquā."

The following four volumes are in quarto. They were part of Mr. Strype's collections, and many of the articles are Burghley papers.

119.

1. The navigation of Ochther, a Norman, in the time of King Alfred.

Translated out of the Saxon language; whereby it may appear that the passage by sea towards Moscow was then discovered, although not followed as in our day. With a neat chart of the voyage. This is printed in Hakluyt's Voyages, Vol. I. p. 4.

2. A collection of regulations for the government of the Grammar-school at Bury St. Edmund's in Suffolk, founded by K. Edw. VI. (Latin.)

3. A discourse of martial affairs, touching the safeguard of the Realm, and repulsing of the enemy if any attempt of invasion be made.

Presented to the Queen by Robert Hitchcocke, Gentleman and Soldier, Sept. 1, 1580; with another discourse, by the same person, concerning the overthrow of the enemies at their own doors, 1580.

4. An explanation of geographical terms, and miscellaneous remarks in the science of geography. (French.)

Written in the time of Q. Elizabeth. Imperfect at the end.

5. A supplication to the Queen, to the Lords of the Privy-Council, and to the Parliament, concerning matters of religion.

Drawn up by Mr. Samson. See D'Ewes's Journal, p. 340, and Strype's Annals of the Reformation, Vol. III. App. p. 68.

6. Certain motions for a conference with the Lords and Commons in the presence of the Bishops and Judges, to the honour of God, and for the maintenance of the Queen's royal prerogative, the due observation of her laws, and the quietness of the Church and State of the Realm.

7. A discourse of the doctrines and practices of sundry troublesome Ministers in England, tending to the erecting of a new pretended discipline, and to the overthrow of the Government in matters civil and ecclesiastical.

8. Mr. James Ryder's commendations of Yorkshire; addressed to Lord Burghley, Jan. 3, 1588.

9. Mr. Digges's proposals for arming, training and maintaining 40,000 choice soldiers in England, for less charge and better purpose than 5,000 could be kept in garrison.

10. Richard Williams's dialogue between Law and Obedience; showing, among other things, how the law is abused by pettifoggers, budget-lawyers, and other inferior officers: with a description of the true Gentleman from the Upstart, &c.

11. A short anonymous treatise on Friendship.

12. A discourse, addressed to Lord Burghley, by his Chaplain Mr. Marsh; showing that the Romish Church is not the true Church.

13. The Book of Chronicles of the Kings of France and of the Kings of the House of Ottoman the Turk.

Written in Hebrew by Joseph the Priest, and translated into English by John Lightfoote. This work, in which the language of the Hebrew Scriptures is very successfully imitated, is brought down to the year 1521.

14. A Latin translation of John Bradford's treatise on Death.

See Fox's Martyrs.

15. A note of the prices of various books; by which it appears that the works of Cameron were worth twenty-four shillings, whilst Livy, Bede, and Howes's Chronicle are valued at about a shilling each.

16. Geographical extracts from Dionysius "De Situ Orbis." (Latin and English.)

17. Some short notes on the Hebrew language.

120.

1. Divi Joannis Chrysostomi Oratio, de animi mansuetudine; à Græco in Latinum conversa per Val. Dale, jurisconsultum.

2. A discovery of the present state of the Bishopric of St. Asaph.

3. An account of the proceedings of the Puritans; taken from certain papers and letters found amongst them.

4. A note of the differences between K. Edward the Sixth's second book of the Common Prayer and that of Her Majesty; by Abp. Parker.

5. Rules for the conduct of husbands, wives and children. (Latin.) Collected, with additions, by Lord Burghley.

6. The depositions of Tho. Stone, Tho. Barbar, Anthony Nutter, Hercules Cleavelie, witnesses on the part of the Crown against the Puritans.

7. Dr. John Lightfoot's Rules for Students in reading the History of the Bible methodically.

Printed.

8. A treatise of tythes.

9. Extracts from a work on frequenting the Sacrament; by Fulvius Andrelius, a Jesuit.

10. Certain historical collections; by John Strype, 1696.

11. Short hand notes, by John Strype.

12. Gabrielis Harveii Xaîps, vel Gratulatio Valdinen-

13. Eulogium alterum Cecilianum. Auctore incerto.

121.

1. A copy of the instructions from K. Henry VIII. to Sir Thomas Cheney, his Ambassador to Francis I.; with a copy of the King's signature.

See Num. 115, Art. 47.

2. A copy of Cardinal Wolsey's instructions to Dr. Taylor, the King's Ambassador in France.

3. Mr. Strype's copy of a letter from Wolsey, in great affliction, to the King's Secretary; in which he desires information of what had passed at the King's consultation concerning him.

Printed in Strype's Memorials I. App. N° XXXI.

4. Verses on the marriages of Hen. VIII.; with some extracts from the censures of the foreign Academies on the lawfulness of marrying a brother's widow. (Latin.)

Incip. "Altius ut repetam pandens ab origine magni."

5. A treatise on the Court of Wards and Liveries.

6. Levinii Bulovii consilium de societate belli adversus Turcas cum Cæsare Rudolpho à Polonis ineunda, 1594.

7. The rate and prices of victuals to be sent from Bristol to Munster in Ireland, for 1,660 men for four months; with issues from the Privy Seal for the same, Jan. 6, 1580.

8. Rate and prices of victuals, to be sent from Chester to Dublin, for 2,300 men for four months, Jan. 6, 1580.

9. An account of the Prelates and Nobility of Scotland who are best affected towards religion.

10. Names of such as are left out of the commission of the peace in the 29th year of Her Majesty's reign.

11. Collections from various chronicles concerning taxes and exactions.

12. Tractatus de Somno.

13. W. Bourne's Treatise on the property or qualities of glasses (for optical purposes), according to the making, polishing and grinding of them; addressed to Lord Burghley.

14. Ralph Babbard's notes, delivered to the Queen, of his various inventions.

This paper is very much in the manner of the Marquis of Worcester's "Scantlings of Inventions."

15. Collections on Alchemy.

16. A treatise of the undervaluation of gold and silver in England; with proposals for the reformation thereof.

17. Selections from a discourse "On the radical cause of sundry offences that have happened within our State and Commonwealth; with a scheme for raising subsidies, &c."

18. A dissertation on Sneezing; with its good and bad omens.

19. Dr. Masters's instructions for Lord Burghley on the treatment of his gout; with some other medicines and receipts. (Latin.)

20. Inscriptions on the Picts wall; sent by Mr. Reginald Bainbrig to Mr. Wm. Camden.

21. A description of the manner of making woad; with a note concerning the converting of English wool into Jersey yarn, and the names of the commodities made thereof, chiefly by strangers.

Num. 121, 122.

22. Mr. Alderman Boxe's discourse for the increase of tillage; addressed to Lord Burghley, Jan. 26, 1576.

23. A satirical epitaph, in verse, on Lipsius; with some lines of the like nature on his legacy to our Lady of Louvain of his Professor's gown.

122.

1. A statement of the commercial and other advantages of cochineal; addressed to the Council by William Tipper, a patentee, as an answer to objections taken to his patent by the Spanish Merchants.

2. Thomas Lupton craves of Lord Burghley his patronage of some book that he was about to publish.

3. The calculation of some unknown person's nativity, born in the year 1531. (Italian.)

Made at Venice, by John Battista Carillo, Sept. 16, 1552.

4. A discourse of the voyage made by Mr. Francis Drake to the Streights of Magellan and so to the seas of Sur, 1577 and 1578.

5. John Dee's instructions for Charles Jackman and Arthur Pett, delivered to them with a new chart, expressing their Cathay voyage more exactly than any other yet published, May 17, 1580.

6. Some Latin verses, said to be "copied oute of a booke wherein was Wycliffs wourkes, lying in a taylour's shopp at Harlowe in Essex, after the dissolution of the monasteries, above xxⁱⁱ yeres paste."

They are monkish Leonines of a propheticall nature, and intituled "De geatis futuris." They begin,

Num. 122.

"Febribus infestus, requies fuerat mihi lectus," and a little further on, the author has in the following line given a very true and concise character of his work,

"Scripsero si vanum, caput est quia non mihi sanum."

See the next article.

7. Verses intituled "A Prophecy of strange nations." Beg.

"When the crabbe in his countrie on his comons shall calle."

They seem to have been also transcribed from the volume mentioned in the preceding article, and were probably written by the author of that article, viz. John of Bridlington, a Canon regular of the monastery at that place in the fourteenth century. Compare with this Cotton MSS. Domit. ix. 14.

8. More propheticall rhymes, beg.

"A duke out of Denmarke shall hym dight."

To these are added other prophecies in prose; and, at the end, a key to them.

9. A treatise intituled "An licitum sit Catholicis in Anglia arma sumere et aliis modis Reginam ac Regnum defendere contra Hispanos?"

10. A treatise concerning the lawfulness of a Protestant's marrying with a Papist.

11. Theological and other compositions, by Dr. J. Lightfoot, and indorsed by himself, "Ea quæ à me habita sunt in publicis comitiis, Jul. 2, 1655, cum procancellariatu fungerer." (Latin.)

Said to be in part printed.

12. Dr. Lightfoot's funeral sermon on Sir Rowland Cotton.

13. Some extracts from Seneca's Works.

work that can be said or wished for will be found in the excellent edition of it published in 1795 by Mr David Macpherson, who was accidentally deprived of the use of the present manuscript, which would have certainly furnished him with many various readings of importance.

2. "Ane prettie jeist of ane eremeit in Italye."
 3. "Ane schort abreviat of the lyef of Theobilus un of the vyse men in Greice, and of his dowchter Theobelina."
 4. A short note of authors cited by Wyntown.
- Mr. William Guthrie, in a note at the beginning of this volume, conjectures that it was brought from Scotland by Cromwell, and by him presented to General Fairfax, a collector of curious MSS.

198. folio.

A collection of royal proclamations from 19 Hen. VII. to 17 Car. I. with a table. Among these is the remarkable proclamation of Lady Jane Grey, transcribed from the copy printed by Grafton 1553.

199. folio.

"A further report from the Committee to whom the petition of the proprietors of the stock of the Governor and Company for raising the Thames water in York buildings, assembled in their general court held at their house in Winchester-street the 12th Jan^y 1732, was referred."

Codex membranaceus in folio, in quo continetur

Registrum cartarum Prioratus Hospitalis S. Johannis Jerusalem, ab anno 1492 usque ad 1500, tempore fratris Johan. Kendal, Prioris dicti Hospitalis. Ad finem desunt folia nonnulla, æquæ ac fol. lxxvi & lxxvii.

On the first leaf of this register is a very curious certificate in English, of a marriage celebrated between John Docwra, aged 18, and Margaret Turpyn, aged 13, in the buttery of the above priory; and yet from the ages of the parties, it may rather have been the previous ceremony of espousals than an actual marriage.

201. folio.

Instructions for the government of the office of Ordinance, from 1683 to 1727.

202. folio.

The answer and certificate of Sir Tho. Rowe, Lord Mayor of London, anno 1568, to the Lords of Council, of the number of strangers and their families dwelling within the said city and its liberties; and what houses are pestered with a greater number of strangers than hath of late time been accustomed; to whom they pay their rents, and how many of them resort to any of the strangers churches.

This MS. seems to have belonged to Sir William Cecill.

Num. 203, 204.

203. folio.

A collection of ancient charters and instruments of various kinds, transcribed from originals at the instance of Elias Ashmole, esquire; commencing with the reign of Henry I. and ending with that of Edw. VI. At the beginning of the volume are four leaves of a similar collection, that might have suggested the undertaking to Mr. Ashmole; and at the end are some additional instruments of the time of Edw. II. and III. The handwriting in several parts of the respective deeds has been faithfully imitated, so that the age of such as want dates may be easily conjectured; and the seals have been accurately copied.

The present volume may be regarded as another Madox's Formulare Anglicanum, and would afford valuable materials to any person disposed to republish that useful work.

204. in folio majori.

The Chronicle of John Hardyng in metre, from the first beginning of England to the reign of Henry the Sixth; very fairly written on vellum.

It may be remarked of all the known manuscripts of this Chronicle, that they not only differ very materially from the printed copy edited by Richard Grafton, but also from each other: the reason of which seems to have been, that Hardyng, a restless and time-serving character, thought fit to accommodate his history to the temporary occurrences during the very turbulent period of his latter days. But his grand object was to stimulate, at all times, the princes whom he served to the conquest of Scotland; towards the attainment of which he devoted the whole of his life; and at no inconsiderable risque of his person. In different copies of the work we find the author addressing the same words both to Henry the Sixth and Edward the Fourth: but he is not always to be trusted, as he is known to have been hired by both these sovereigns to forge charters of homage from the Scottish kings, which are yet existing in the Exchequer.

It may not be unacceptable to give a brief analysis of the present manuscript, which contains,

1. The author's dedication to Edw. IV. Beg. "O soʒayne lord be it to zoure plesance." There is reason for supposing that this is a subsequent addition to the MS. fo. 2 b.

2. Another dedication to Henry VI. Beg. "Who hath an hurte and wille it nought diskure." fo. 3.

He here recapitulates what he had done towards obtaining evidences from Scotland; and mentions that the Lord Cardinal of York, the Lord Chancellor, had refused to pass a patent which the King had granted him of the manor of Gedyngton, and, as he hints, for want of a bribe. He then very strongly urges his claim to some remuneration, which it appears he afterwards obtained. See a memoir on this subject in Archæologia, vol. I. p. 87. Towards the conclusion of the reign of Henry the Sixth, in the Chronicle, Hardyng again breaks forth into lamentation on the like occasion, and repeats much of the language here used.

Neither of these dedications is in Grafton's printed edition, with an exception of the last stanza in the first of them, which occurs in fo. ccxxxii of the printed copy; but, on the other hand, this manuscript has not the dedication to the Duke of York as given by Grafton.

Num. 204, 205.

3. The Chronicle itself. Beg. "The while that Troy was regnyng in his myghte." fo. 5.

4. "The pedegre of Edward thryd to the reme of Fraunce." Illuminated. fo. 195.

5. The emblazoned arms of the author's "maystir" Sir Robert Umfrevile. fo. 219.

6. The illuminated map of Scotland. fo. 225 b.

This differs very materially from that engraved by Mr. Gough in his British Topography, vol. II. 579, from the Bodleian MS. and also from the drawing in the Harleian copy.

7. The letter of King Edw. I. to Pope Boniface, claiming his right to the kingdom of Scotland, followed by those of the Lords and Barons to the same Pontiff. fo. 226 b.

8. The author's conclusion. fo. 229 b.

In a marginal note in fo. 5 it is stated, that at the instance of the Cardinal of Winchester the author had permission from Julius Cesaryne, auditor of the chamber to Pope Martin the Fifth, to have daily inspection of the Chronicle of Trogus Pompeius, afterwards drawn up by Justin, and in the custody of the above Pope at Rome.

This very fair and splendid MS., besides the illuminations already specified, is decorated with ornamented initial letters, and with a few coats of arms emblazoned in the margins. It had formerly belonged to Sir Robert Cotton, and was afterwards the property of one of the Gerards, earls of Macclesfield, whose arms are on the first leaf.

Of Hardyng's Chronicle there are MSS. in the Bodleian and Ashmolean libraries at Oxford; in the Harleian collection, N° 661, and one nearly corresponding with the latter in the possession of the compiler of the present article [F. Douce]. The Bodleian copy is described in the index to Hearne's Life of Spelman; and many curious particulars relating to Hardyng may be found in Bale, Pitts, and Tanner; in Bishop Nicholson's Historical Library; in Howe's account of authors used in his Annals; in the Archæologia, vol. I. 87, and vol. XVI. 139; in Ritson's Bibliographia Poetica; and in the preface to the last edition of the Chronicle published in 1812.

205. folio.

Among many events recorded in this history, notice is taken of a dispute rather of a singular nature about the year 1330, between the Prior of Durham and Richard de Neville, on the latter's doing fealty for the manor of Raby, by presenting a stag; and it is mentioned that Richard's grandfather, Robert de Neville, was wont to perform the above service on Holyrood day, whence at his death the following verses were sung in lamentation for him:

Wel and wa sal ys hornes blawe,
Haly Rod the day;
Nou es he dede and lies lawe,
Was wont to blaw tham ay.

Vol. VI. of Mr. Holles's Collections.

1. A pedigree of the Fretchvells. fo. 1.*
2. A translation into English verse of Juvenal's 8th

Num. 207, 208.

Satire, made by W. Schipwith at the request of his cousin Ger. Holles. fo. 7*.

3. "Cartæ quædam transcriptæ ex archivis Denzelli Holles filii junioris prænobilis domini Johannis Comitis de Clare, 1637." fo. 1.

These consist of various charters, &c. relating to the families of Denzell, Frescheville, Gainsford, Holles, Kingston, Musard, Skewys, and Trenewyth. Among which, at fo. 58, is "the speech of Gervas Holles, 1641, against the Scots propositions, for which he was suspended the House of Commons;" and at fo. 105 sundry extracts from Domesday-book.

Since the formation of this catalogue, another volume of these collections has been presented to the British Museum by the Right Honourable Sir Joseph Banks, Bart. It is intitled "Trusbut," and in it Mr. Holles has entered the names of the persons who transcribed the contents. These were, 1. Richard Guppy "serviens Gervas. Holles." 2. Gervase Holles himself. 3. William Holles "consanguineus Gerv. Holles." 4. Jonathan Gray "serviens Gerv. Holles," whom he has handled very roughly in vol. II. art. 1.

In a volume of royal letters preserved in this collection (which will be hereafter described) there are three written by King Charles II. relating to Mr. Holles. Some account of this gentleman may be found in Wood's Athenæ Oxonienses II. Fasti, 17. edit. 1721. See Hearne's Annales de Trokelowe, pp. xii & 275; and Collins's history of the Newcastle family, p. 71. In a satirical list of members of parliament temp. Car. II. contained in another Lansdowne manuscript, is the following article:—"Jervas Holles, member for Lincoln, a pensioner at Court and two places there."

208. folio.

A Chronicle of England in verse, with the following title:—"Lawson's Orchett [orchard] wharin thou shalt fynde most pleasaunt fructe of all mannor of sortes. That is to sai, the true acte, facte or deade of every Prince reininge in this lande sens yt was first inhabitt, with the yeares of thaire contynuanee and the varieite of the opinyons of the historiographers, newly gatheryd and agmented, contynuinge unto the conquest. 1581." Beg. "When Troye triumphed in his reigne."

The author's name was John Lawson, and his work consists of many thousand wretched lines compiled from Geoffrey of Monmouth, Guido of Colours, Lydgate's Troy book, and Higden's Polychronicon, with the occasional introduction of French history. It extends, as the title states, to the reign of William the Conqueror, inclusive. Lawson's apology for not including Scottish history may be worth transcribing, and serve at the same time as a specimen of his style.

The affaires of Scotland I wente for to have touched,
But thaire writers so far deffered frome the certentie
Off others, boithe in tyme, and facte, that I the same leathed

For feire of the learned that haith circumspectlie
Numbered thaire steppes and sett thame forthe cordinglie.

Wharfor I thought the tyme spent a great deile better
To proceide forwardes and leve such rotten matter.

At the end of the chronicle are two addresses, the one to the reader, whence the above extract is made, and the other to Lord Burghley and Sir William Damsell knight, and to all the author's good masters of the Court of Wards and Liveries, from which expression we may infer that he belonged to that court.

Num. 208, 209.

In this address he states the materials that he had used for his work, three volumes of which he had compleated, and concludes with the menace of a fourth, that he might not waste his time.

On the first leaf of the volume is the following memorandum in the hand-writing of Lord Burghley: "A° Dñi 1581 et Regin. Elizab. 23 Tho. Lawson, feodary in y^e county of Northūb. sent me this booke."

209. folio.

212. folio.

Chronicon Angliæ à Bruto usque ad Regem Henricum VI. Incip. "Britannia quæ nunc Anglia dicitur."

This chronicle, transcribed at the end of the sixteenth century, corresponds in many places with that of John Brompton. It formerly belonged to the monastery of Glastonbury; but is very different from the work ascribed to one Douglas, a monk of that place, and afterwards printed by Caxton. See Harl. MSS. No. 4690. A manuscript note in a spare leaf at the beginning refers to another copy of it in the library of St. John's college, Oxford, which has the name of the author, John Shyrburne, at the end of it, as the writer of this note conceives; but there is good reason for supposing that he was merely the owner. This volume was formerly in the possession of William Camden Clarendieux.

213. folio.

A Collection of tracts all neatly copied in a hand of about Charles I.'s time, some of which are printed, and others not. It contains,

1. A treatise against Papists, addressed to Queen Elizabeth, by Secretary Cecil, afterwards Earl of Salisbury. fo. 1.

2. A letter written by way of apology by Count Arundell to the Lord Treasurer Burghley concerning his stile of Comes Imperii. fo. 7.

3. "A modell of the designe of King Henry the 4th of France, for the uniting of Christendome against the cōmon enemy the Ottoman Emperour. Extracted from the Memoirs of the Duke of Sully, by the Bishop of Rhodéz." fo. 13.

Num. 213.

5. "A breife discourse touching the charge and employment of a Colonell in y^e warres. Written by an officer serving in y^e late warres in the United Provinces of the Netherlands." fo. 34.

6. William Gorges's observations on a sea-fight on our own coasts, and of the order and discipline for marshalling and directing our navies against any Spanish Armados or others that shall invade us, &c. fo. 38.

7. "Balaam's Asse, or a free discourse touching the murmurs and feared discontents of the time, and directed to His then Majestie King James by way of humble advertisement." fo. 59.

8. "The combat between Edward Bruce, Baron of Kinlosse, and Sir Edward Sackville brother of the Earl of Dorset." fo. 73.

9. A description of the United Provinces of the Netherlands; also the politia thereof. fo. 77.

10. A brief description of the Low Countries, especially Holland, observed in a three months abode in those parts. By J. S. fo. 83.

11. "A copie of a letter conceived to bee written to the late Duke of Buckingham when first he became a favourite to King James; conteyning some advises to the duke for his better direction in that eminent place of favourite. Drawne at the entreaty of the Duke himselfe. From Sir Francis Bacon." fo. 92.

12. Sir Walter Raleigh's discourse of a marriage between Henry Prince of Wales and a daughter of Savoy. fo. 103.

13. Tell truth and shame the Spaniard; or the certain manner of M^r Vicechamberlaine's reception at the Court of Spain. By Francis Phillips. fo. 113.

14. Interrogatories administered to John Earl of Bristol, Ambassador in Spain, on his return, with his answer thereto. fo. 120.

15. The Pope's letter to Charles Prince of Wales, April 2, 1623. Translated into English: with the prince's answer. fo. 137.

See the prince's own copy of his original letter in Latin, among the Royal Letters in this collection, article 48*.

16. Sir Rob. Cotton's opinion on the alteration of the coin delivered to the Privy Council, Sept. 2, 1626. fo. 138.

17. "The Lord Carlton's letter from Southwick in post to the Queene on Saturday at afternoone, Aug. 23, 1628, touching the tragicall end of my Lord Duke of Buckingham." fo. 147.

18. "A true presentation of forepast parliaments to the view of present times and posterity, written anno 1629." fo. 149.

19. A sermon preach'd at St Maries in Oxford. The text, Matthew xxviiith chap. ver. 13, "Saying, Say ye, His disciples came by night and stole him away while we slept." fo. 180.

This ludicrous piece is very much in the manner of Dr. Fuller.

20. The trial of Mervin Lord Audley, Earl of Castlehaven, 1631, with some account of him. fo. 185.

21. Sir Henry Wotton's parallel between the Earle of Essex and Buckingham. fo. 207.

22. A view of the above parallel. fo. 217.

23. Sir John Boroughs's sovereignty of the seas of England, 1633. fo. 226.

24. "The charge delivered by the Earle of Essex at the Councell table against the Viscount Wimbledon, Generall of the last Cales voyage, with his answers conteyninge a full relation of the defeate of the same voyage." fo. 266.

25. Nathaniel Knott's advice of a seafaring man on the expedition intended against the Turkish pirates, 1634. fo. 300.

Num. 213.

26. "A relation of a short survey of 26 counties, briefly describing the citties and their scytuations, and the corporate townes and castles therein. Observ'd in a seven weekes journey begun at the city of Norwich, and from thence into the North; on Monday August 11th 1634, and ending att the same place. By a Captaine, a Lieutenant, and an Ancient, all three of the military company in Norwich." At the end are some verses "in commendation of the gentile travellers and the journal, by a freind." fo. 319.

27. "A relation of a short survey of the westerne counties, in which is breifely described the citties, corporations, castles, and some other remarkables in them. Observ'd in a seven weekes journey begun at Norwich and thence into the West; on Thursday August 4th 1635, and ending at the same place. By the same Lieutenant that with the Captaine and Ancient of the military company in Norwich made a journey into the North the yeere before." fo. 351.

Both the above "relations" contain much curious matter for the antiquary and topographer, and are drawn up in language of considerable quaintness and humour.

28. Jonathan Downes's journal of what happened in the cruise of His Majesty's fleet of 24 sail in the narrow seas from the first setting out in Tilbury Hope on Tuesday the 26 May 1625. fo. 390.

29. The copy of a letter sent by a friend to Sir Thomas Hetley or Hedley kn^t. concerning the reputed nunnery at Little Gidding in Huntingdonshire. fo. 395.

This is printed in Hearne's Langtoft, and in his Cat. Vindiciæ. See likewise No. 209 of this collection.

30. "The case for a legall reformation of one of the greatest home-trades within the commonwealth of England, viz. seacoales." fo. 400.

31. "Angliæ universalis dementia, annis 1643, 1644, 1645. Or a discourse penned by a judicious gentleman and an old protestant touching the distractions begun and continued in those yeeres." fo. 404.

32. "An humbill remoustrance of such as wische religion to florische, the maintenance of the King's house and greatnes, the preservation of the subjects freedome and liberties, and the removall of unhappy debatis depending betwixt King and subjects. Emittted anno 1646." By D. S. fo. 411.

33. "The report of the subcommittee for the revenue made in the parlement. Anno Domi 1654." fo. 415.

34. "A letter from a gentleman beyond the seas to a freind of his [in] England, touching the carriage and deportment of a young gentleman in his travells in those parts, and written for the satisfaction of his freinds in England." By S. M. L. fo. 425.

This is a political character of King Charles the Second.

35. "A copy of the articles granted by Lewis the 14th King of France and Navarre, to the Count of Dona, Governour of the principalltie of Orenge, about the rendition of the said principalltie and castle of Orenge, and the power given by the King to Monsieur Millet concerning the affairs of Orenge, of the date March the 20, 1660, S. N. Likewise the power given to the Count of Ferrasieres-Montbrun by the Count of Dona concerning the business of Orenge, March the 17th 1660, S. N. Translated out of French." fo. 427.

36. "A breife resolution of that grand case of conscience (necessary for these times) concerning alleagiance due to a Prince ejected by force out of his kingdom, and how far the subjects may comply with a present usurped power." fo. 433.

37. "His Majesties Privy Seale to the Lord High Treasurer touching the assignement of severall branches of the revenue." fo. 436.

Num. 213—215.

38. "A speech made before the Right Reverend Father in God John Lord Bishop of Coventry and Litchfield att his visitation Sept. 11th 1662. By W. B. Eq. and captain to the trayned foot company of Scarsdale hundred in Derbyshire." fo. 438.

Full of pun and humour.

39. An account of a voyage from St. Helena to Bantam begun the 6th May 1661, and from thence to England. By Capt. John Dutton, governor of the islands of Saint Helena and Poula Roone. fo. 440.

40. "A game at Pickett." Politically applied to Oliver Cromwell and the members of his council. fo. 447 b.

214. folio.

A Volume compiled for the use of Charles De Croy, Prince and Count of Chimay, godfather to the Emperor Charles V., about the year 1455, and afterwards in the possession of the Duke of Arschot, containing the following articles :

1. Lucius Tungrensis, des antiquités des Belges. Comm. "Ou temps que Laomedon Roy de Troyes fu occis." fo. 1.

2. Lucius Tungrensis de antiquitatibus Galliae. Fragmentum 5 foliorum. fo. 78.

3. "Chi cōmenche la prologue du livre des Rois de Brètagne q, maintenant on apelle Engleterre cōmenchant a Brutus." fo. 83.

This is a translation of Geoffrey of Monmouth, made, as appears from a note at the end, at the instance of the Count of Chimay, by one Wauhlin a citizen of Mons in Hainault, in the year 1445. It seems to agree in all respects with the Latin original.

4. "Les merveilles de l'ille de Bretagne que nous disons Engleterre." fo. 192.

This piece differs from the tract "de mirabilibus Britanniae" printed in Hearne's App. to Robert of Gloucester, p. 572. Compare also with Cotton MS. Claud. E. VIII.

5. Le Testament de Jean de Meung, en vers. fo. 195.

It is less complete than the copy printed by L'Englet du Fresnoy.

6. L'apparition de Maistre Jean de Meung, poeme, par Honoré Bonnor, Prieur de Salon. fo. 200.

7. "Cy après sensuyt la declaracion et signifiçance des lunes et des nativitez des persouns, faictes par les anciens philosophes." fo. 219.

215. 4to.

A miscellaneous Volume, containing,

1. A little treatise of certain rights which of ancient and laudable custom of England ought to pertain to the Marshal in time of war. This is a fragment of 4 leaves only of vellum, written in the time of Henry VIII. fo. 1.

2. "The coppie of a letter written by a Master of Arte in Cambridge to his frende in London concerninge some talke passed of late betweene two worshippingfull and grave men about the present state, and some proceedinges of thearle of Leycester and his freindes in England. Contrived, spoken, and published with moeste earnest protestacion of all duetifull good subjects will and affection towardes Her Moest Excellent Ma^{ty} and the realme; for whose good onelie it is made knownen to manye." fo. 5.

Num. 215—218.

This is the well known work entitled "Leicester's Commonwealth," a libel ascribed to Father Parsons the Jesuit, and answered by Sir Philip Sidney. It wants a good deal at the end; but what there is may be well worth comparing with the printed copies.

3. The propositions for a safe and well grounded peace presented to King Charles I. at Hampton Court, Sept. 7, 1647. Taken from Sir Edw^d Walker's perfect copies of all the votes, letters, &c. relating to the treaty at Newport. fo. 61.

4. "Excerpta ex instrumentis publicis de Judæis Angliam incolentibus. Ex autographo ad Receptam Scaccarii 35 H. 2. a^o 1189."

216. 4to.

A Volume of Miscellanies. They consist of,

1. The government of Wales anciently, and at this day, viz. temp. Jac. I. fo. 1.

2. L. Chancellor Egerton's speech to Sir Henry Montagu when he was sworn Chief Justice of the King's Bench, with Montagu's answer. fo. 50.

Both have been printed.

3. A treatise on entails and perpetuities, A.D. 1601. fo. 55.

4. Proceedings of the Lords and Commons on the proposed union with Scotland temp. Jac. I. with the opinions of the Judges. fo. 65 b.

5. The grievances declared in parliament 8 Jac. I. with divers extracts from records against arbitrary impositions. fo. 79.

6. John Kemor's remonstrance to the parliament on the decay of trade, temp. Jac. I. fo. 135 b.

217. 4to.

A Volume formerly belonging to Sir Henry Spelman, and chiefly, if not altogether, written by his own hand. It contains,

1. Brief collections of the history of England to the Norman conquest. These are extracted from the first edition of Holinshed's Chronicles. fo. 1.

2. Collections out of the description of Britain. From the same. fo. 45 b.

3. Collections out of the description of Scotland. From the same. fo. 92 b.

4. "The original of rites, customs, and manners relating to England." fo. 155.

In this part of the volume will be found many interesting particulars, and especially on the subject of inventions.

218. 4to.

A printed Volume, intituled "A Booke, containing the true portraiture of the countenances and attires of the Kings of England, from William Conqueror unto our Sovereigne Lady Queene Elizabeth now raigning; together with a briefe report of some of the principall acts of the same kings, especially such as have bene least mentioned in our late writers. Diligently collected by T. T. [i. e. Thomas Timme] London, printed by John de Beauchesve dwelling in the Blacke Fryers. 1597.

This extremely rare work is embellished with elegant wooden cuts of the portraits of our sovereigns from William I. to Elizabeth, one of which, viz. that of Elizabeth, has been also used in Holland's translation of Livy, and in Puttenham's Arte of English Poesie. The volume has been interleaved by the celebrated antiquary William Lambarde, who has added, in his own hand-writing, several extracts from Holinshed's Chronicles, ending with the reign of Edw. II.; but some leaves of these extracts have been torn out.

Num. 218—223.

219. 4to.

Extracts from the Pipe Rolls concerning Wales. At the end is the copy of a letter from Bishop Nicholson to M^r Edward Lhwyd, dated Salkeld, Nov. 7, 1700, concerning D^r Leigh's Lancashire; mineral researches; his own historical library, and his defence of that work against its adversaries; and various other matters.

See the latter part of Owen's "British Remains," 1777, 8vo.

Collections by Mr. Prynne, from records in the Tower concerning the Clergy and their great incroachments on the royal prerogative. Transcribed, examined, and attested by William Riley M^r Prynne's clerk.

This volume formerly belonged to the Duke of Chandos, and afterwards to Mr. Umfreville the coroner, who in a note on the first leaf says: "Multi estimo." Vide 3 Prynne, or his History of Edward the First, Henry III. and King John; to all which this noble collection seems (meâ sententiâ) to have been designed as an appendix, or in nature of a review of his whole most elaborate and industrious collections, and the records subsequent to the reign of Edw. I. to be designed in confirmation. In the close of the epistle to the reader [vol. 3.] Mr. Prynne mentions subsequent tomes; likewise in animadversions on 4 Inst. 221, 249; and p. 59, expressly his 4th tome when published. P. 221 he promises to continue it to the reign of Elizabeth.

N.B. In the margin of fo. 274 of this volume there is a note, apparently, in Mr. Prynne's own handwriting.

4. The Bishop of Ross's account of his negotiation in England, in behalf of Mary Queen of Scots, during his residence in England from Sept. 1568 to the last of March 1572. fo. 241.

232. folio.

Collections by Henry Powle of Shottesbrook in the county of Berks, Speaker of the House of Commons and afterwards Master of the Rolls, A.D. 1689, and to whom several of the manuscripts in this collection belonged. They contain,

1. A definition of murder, from Gervase of Tilbury's dialogue of the Exchequer. fo. 4.

2. A discourse concerning Domesday book, partly from Arthur Agarde's treatise, with some extracts from it relating to the county of Gloucester. fo. 7.

3. A discourse concerning the value of English money. fo. 11.

4. A treatise on the Marches of Wales. fo. 27.

5. A discourse on sheep, wool, and the trade of cloth. fo. 31.

6. A copy of the rates imposed on the several counties of England towards providing ships, in the years 1636, 1637, 1638, 1639, and 1640. fo. 33.

7. Extracts, as it should seem, from the register of Gloucester cathedral, containing a list of its Abbots, and other historical occurrences, from the year 680 to 1381. fo. 36.

8. A note of the charges of the Lent assizes, during the shrievalty of Henry Powle, Esq. (the father of the proprietor of this volume,) A.D. 1633, amounting to 257l. 5s. 1d. fo. 43.

9. "Nomina Justiciarior' ad pacem in comitat' Gloucestr' ab anno 1 Ric. III. usque ad annum 1 Ed. VI." fo. 44.

Num. 232—234.

10. Names and arms of the Dukes, Earls, and chief persons in the county of Gloucester. fo. 48.

11. Nomina Justiciariorum ad pacem in comitat' Gloucestr', anno 22 Car. II. fo. 51.

12. Ancient arms in the body of the abbey church of Westminster. fo. 52 b.

13. Arms in the window of Shottesbrook church. fo. 53 b.

14. "Ex libro mihi commodato per Dom. Joh. Cotton, cui titulus Optima munera prioratus Angliæ cujus locus in bibliothecâ istâ est sub effigie Neronis, num. 6". (Nero E. VI.) Continet nomina Magistrorum quondam Templi in Angliâ. fo. 54.

15. Some notes relating to John Gower the poet, partly in the hand-writing of Oliver Acton. fo. 54 b.

16. The revenue of the Commonwealth of England, Scotland, and Ireland, as it was stated in the year 1654. fo. 56.

17. Certain notes from a book belonging to Mr. Rich. Berkely of Rendcombe, of various matters relating to Gloucestershire. fo. 59.

18. Instructions to the Lord Lieut' and Deputy Lieut' of Gloucestershire, 1586. fo. 64.

19. Assessments on the Clergy of Gloucester for armour, &c. anno 1613. fo. 65.

20. The number of men furnished by the County of Gloucester, with provision of ammunition, &c. anno 1588. fo. 68.

21. The association for defence of the Queen's Majesty, anno 1584. fo. 73.

22. An order of the Judges for repairing the Booth Hall at Gloucester, anno 10 Jac. I. fo. 74 b.

23. Instructions for beacons in Gloucestershire. fo. 75.

24. Instructions for Mustermasters. fo. 75 b.

25. Commissions of array, 5 Hen. IV., 2 Hen. VII., and 3 Ed. VI. fo. 77.

26. An essay concerning the differences which have of late times arisen between the Kings of England and their Parliaments; written after the Restoration. fo. 86.

27. Notes relating to the Court of Starchamber and its proceedings. fo. 90.

On the first leaf of these collections there is a long note concerning Mr. Powle and his family, by E. Umfreville, Esq., to whom the volume afterwards belonged.

233. folio.

The Prince of Orange's declaration of the reasons inducing him to appear in arms in the kingdom of England, for preserving the Protestant religion, and for restoring the laws and liberties of England, Scotland, and Ireland; an order made on his landing; the proceedings of the Assembly of Commons and Citizens thereon, and the letters for electing a Convention. 1688.

234. folio.

A volume intituled "Collections out of severall authors [specified in the margin] who have writ the antiquities, chronologie, and history of Britain (especially that part now called England) from the first traditional beginning, continued to the late troubles in the reign of King Charles the First, anno 1668 and anno 1680."

It ends however with the reign of Elizabeth, being perhaps only an odd volume. It is accompanied with ink drawings of the portraits and coins of the respective sovereigns, and of other matters, as well as with several genealogical tables.

Num. 235—238.

235. folio.

A diary of the life and family occurrences of Thomas Godfrey, an auditor of the Chamberlain's accounts, the second son of Thomas Godfrey of Lidd in Kent, from 1585 to 1655; with a list of such of his family as had been bailiffs of Lidd.

236. folio.

Speeches and other compositions of Sir Francis Bacon, many whereof are stated by Mr. Umfreville, whose property they were, not to be collected into any edition of his works.

N.B. This is bound with No. 235.

237. folio.

A copy of the proceedings, pleadings, &c. on Charles II. Writ of quo warranto against the city of London touching its right to be a Corporation.

238. folio.

A Volume of Miscellanies, containing,

1. A diary of Court transactions or minutes of Privy Council business, from the 20th November 1558, to the 30 April 1559. fo. 1.

2. A moral and political discourse addressed to Q. Elizabeth, with sundry notes on the reigns of her predecessors. fo. 63. (Original.)

3. Part of a collection of letters to and from persons of eminence, in the reigns of Elizabeth, James I., and Charles I., made by some person in the service of Sir Gervas Clifton. fo. 80.

These letters, for the most part, are without the writers' names. Those which are affixed to them are as follow;—Sir Anthony Bacon, Sir Francis Bacon, Lord Burghley, Mr. Francis Chignell, Mr. Denis Cooper, Earl of Exeter, Mr. Hobbes, King James I., Leaguer of Shertogenbosche, Edmund Falkland Lacy, Cardinal Richelieu, Dr. Ridgley, Sir Walter Waring, Mr. Wild, Sir Henry Wootton, and the Archb. of York.

The names of the persons addressed are, Babington the conspirator, Queen Elizabeth, Sir F. Bacon, Sir T. Bodley, Lord Treasurer Buckhurst, Lord Carlisle, Secretary Cecil, Sir Gervas Clifton, Sir W. Cornwallis, Lord Cranbourne, Mr. Davis, Bishop of Ely, Earl of Essex, Lady Eliz. Hatton, King James I., Mr. Kemp, Bishop of London, Mr. Mathew, Lord Monteagle (on the gunpowder plot), the Queen Mother, Earl of Northumberland, Lord Oxford, Dr. Plafer, Sir W. Raleigh, Earl of Salisbury, Earl of Southampton, Sir Nicholas Tufton, and Sir George Villiers.

4. Verses on the building of St. Paul's. fo. 160 b.

5. An epigram to the King, by Sir Thomas Roe. fo. 161.

6. Provisions at Wezell. fo. 161 b.

7. Medicines to purge the head. fo. 161 b.

8. Sir Robert Naunton's Fragmenta regalia. fo. 163.

It has a few variations from the printed copies.

9. A collection of letters on miscellaneous subjects, written by Sir Anthony Bacon, Sir Francis Bacon, Sir Tho. Bodley, Mr. Cuffe, the Earl of Desmond, the Earl of Essex, Secretary Liddington, Sir J. Perrott, and Sir H. Wallop, including (at fo. 253 b) some considerations touching the Queen's service in Ireland, and some other matters relating to that kingdom. fo. 242.

Num. 238—241.

Some of the letters are duplicates of those in Article 3. Imperfect at the end.

10. The defence of John Hales against certain slanders and false reports against him, made in the reign of Edw. VI. Written on occasion of the insurrection in the West of England about inclosures. fo. 291.

11. "A brief of the proofes agaynst Sir Richard Knightley," of Fawsley in Northamptonshire, and others, concerning the printing of Puritanical libels, temp Eliz. fo. 327.

12. The patent for the Lord Winchester, Lord Galloway, and Lord Villiers, now Earl of Jersey, the three Lord Justices of Ireland, in the reign of Will. III. fo. 336.

239. folio.

A volume written on vellum by different persons in the fifteenth century. Containing,

1. Walteri Hemingburgh vel Hemingford, Canonici de Gisseburne, libri tres de gestis Anglorum ab adventu Willielmi Bastardi Conquestoris usque ad mortem strenuissimi Regis Edwardi primi post conquestum. fo. 1.

Of this work the first 50 chapters of book I. are wanting. At fo. 74 of the MS. Mr. Gale's printed copy of Hemingford ends, and Mr. Hearne's commences.

2. Ranulphi Higden, Monachi Cestrensis, chronicon de gestis Regum Edw. II. & III. usque ad ann. 1344. fo. 121.

3. Anonymi cujusdam historia Regis Edw. III. ab anno 1344. fo. 124.

The latter part of it only agrees with the anonymous writer of this reign, printed by Mr. Hearne in continuation of Walter Hemingford.

4. Excerpta quædam ex dictis Johannis Cassiani Heremitæ fo. 134.

5. A note of the number of churches, knights fees, religious persons, Bishops, &c. in England. fo. 150.

6. A note of the terms for horses that are not to be found in certain countries. fo. 150.

240. folio.

A description of Trajan's Pillar at Rome, by R. J. Forster, of Sutton, 1787 (a mistake for 1687).

Although the above person has entitled this work his "Papers on Trajan's Pillar," it is nothing more than a translation from the well-known treatise by Alfonsus Ciaconus.

241. folio.

The diary and common place book of John Sander-son, a Turkey merchant, long resident at Constantinople, who has given to it the following title: "In this booke appeareth what hath passed in course and discourse, of the fortunes and actions of my life, beinge in some, all; even to my very cogitationes, as per my letters, sensures &c. herein extante, from 1560 to 1610."

Num. 242—247.

242. folio.

Sundry loose papers and collections relating to Ireland. Among these are, the copy of a letter from P. W. (perhaps Peter Walsh, the Franciscan) to the Lord Lieutenant, in behalf of the regular against the secular Clergy, London, 4 August 1674. fo. 1; a printed singlesheet, containing an account of the meeting of the Irish parliament, 21 Sept. 1703, fo. 7; a description of Dublin Haven, fo. 49; and a general description of the kingdom of Ireland and its inhabitants. fo. 54.

243. folio.

A list of the army by sea and land at Plymouth, destined against Cadiz, under the Earl of Essex, with the instructions given by the generals for the better government of the same, June, 1596. Drawn up by Mr. C. Reynhill.

244. folio.

The journal of a voyage to Madras in the Samuel, William Freke, Commander, taken in its passage by a French East-Indiaman and ransomed, from 26 Jan. 1692; drawn up by Charles Low, the Purser.
This is bound with No. 243.

245. folio.

"De hominio, disputatio adversus eos qui Scotiam feudum ligium Angliæ, Regemque Scotorum eo nomine hominium Anglo debere asserunt." 1602.

This MS. which belonged to Mr. Ralph Thoresby of Leeds, is noticed in Bishop Nicolson's Scottish historical library.

The work, which was written by Mr. Thomas Craig, was translated by Mr. Redpath, and published under the title of "Scotland's sovereignty asserted." Poor Holinshed the historian, not in fact the author of what gave such offence to Mr. Craig, is most unmercifully abused, and at the end are these lines on him;

Ad lectorem.

Quæris Holinschedij historiam cognoscere lector,
Augæ stabulum dicere jure potes;
Non hanc Eurotas, non hanc Tyrinthus ipse
Expurgare potest, spongia sola potest.

246. folio.

Ordinances of the King's household in the time of King James I. Supposed to be in the hand-writing of Scipio Lesquire, one of the Vice-chamberlains of the Exchequer, or of Fabian Phillips.

247. folio.

"Liber continens summa privilegiorum libertatum ac ordinationum Universitatis Oxon. et earum præsertim quæ ad officium Cancellarii ejusdem Universitatis spectant."

Num. 248—253.

248. folio.

An original list or register of livings in the diocese of London, with their annual rents, and the amount of pensions due from them to Cardinal Wolsey, or at his

A former possessor of this manuscript (not M. Le Neve, according to the compiler of the former catalogue) had conjectured that Lord Cromwell was the person intitled as above; but the words "My Lord's Grace" as remarked by M. Le Neve, and also the expression "Lord Chancellor," in one of the pages, evidently point to Wolsey.

249. folio.

A copy of the charter granted by King Charles II. to the company of the Royal Fishery of England, 25 Sept. 1677, with a printed statement of their case respecting a confirmation of their privileges.

250. folio.

An authenticated copy of the indenture made between King William and Queen Mary, and Thomas Neale, Esquire, Master of the Mint, for confirmation of his said office, and for the general regulation of the Mint; with a table of the fees and salaries of the several officers belonging to the same.

251. folio.

Authenticated copies from the records in the Tower of London and the Chapel of the Rolls, of charters granted to the company of Vintners of the city of London, in the reigns of several Kings and Queens of England.

252. folio.

A copy of Her Majesty the Queen Dowager Catherine's deed of jointure, dated 31 July 1672, with abstracts of titles to the several honours and manors of Knaresborough, Oldcourt, East Dearham, Ampthill, Oatlands, Bewdley, Byfleet, Havering, and Somersham, and an analytical table of the contents of the deed. At the end is an indenture for adding a further term of years to the above deed of jointure, dated 13 Aug. 1673.

253. folio.

A large volume of miscellaneous collections, some originals, relating to English History, Law, and Politics.

1. Of the punishment by common law of such as raise false tales, or publish false and dangerous matter to the King's dishonour. page 1.

2. Arguments that the King hath power in his own person to hear and determine all kinds of causes whenever it shall so please him. page 29.

6. A question discussed, whether the royal power and sovereignty of Kings be immediately from God only, and neither from the Pope, the people, or the laws of the countries which they govern. fo. 137.

7. Reformatio[n]s proposed by M^r Attorney General, M^r Solicitor, and M^r Rouse, one of the Clerks of the Pipe, Oct. 1621, concerning the King's revenue. fo. 147.

8. A political discourse on the reign and conduct of Henry the VIIIth, recommending them to the imitation of his successors. fo. 154.

Imperfect, or unfinished.

9. "Nomina curiarum in Anglia, secundum editionem Willielmi Fleetwood, Armig., Recordatoris Civitatis London. fo. 169.

10. A distinction between the ecclesiastical law and the common law. fo. 170.

See the next ensuing volume, art. 36.

11. Secretary Winwood's considerations on the marriage between England and Spain. fo. 214.

12. An itinerary or route from London, through France, Italy, and Sicily, to the Holy Land, neatly delineated with pen and ink on 4 sheets of paper. fo. 228.

It seems to have been copied about the time of Queen Elizabeth, from an ancient French map of the 13th or 14th century; but the copyist may be suspected of having modernized some of the figures.

13. A note of certain acts passed in a parliament held at Dublin anno 27 Eliz. fo. 232.

14. Some short historical notes and dates in the hand-writing of M^r Camden. fo. 233.

15. A note of translations made from Latin authors by Queen Elizabeth, all written with her own hand, and of the time taken to accomplish the same. The authors are Boetius, Sallust, Horace, and Plutarch. fo. 234.

16. A breviat or direction for the King's Counsel; being notes and observations on certain ancient statutes that relate to proceedings in Chancery. Collected by Lord Chancellor Ellesmere, anno 13 Jac. 1. fo. 235.

17. A discourse concerning the salt works in the counties of Durham and Northumberland, written in the reign of Charles II. fo. 252.

18. A narrative concerning a salt work erected within two miles of Portsmouth, at Portsea Island. fo. 261.

19. On prohibitions in trade, and raising money for Government supplies, written in the reign of Charles II. fo. 268.

20. Articles of high treason, and other high crimes and misdemeanors, to be exhibited against the Duchess of Portsmouth. fo. 275.

21. M^r Secretary Pepys's proposal for a reformation among the Pursers in the Navy, addressed to Sir William Coventry, Jan^y 1, 1665. fo. 280.

22. "A remonstrance given to King James in writing by the Parliamente, after they were inhibited by the Kinge not to proceed in examininge his right to sett impositions without consent of Parliament. And a discourse by Sir Roger Owen touchinge the Kinges right of impositions." fo. 296.

23. The pleadings between the Bishop of Winchester and Sir John Giffard concerning the forest laws, a^o 3 Ric. II. fo. 383.

24. Abstract of the Rolls of Parliament, from the 2 to the 7 King John. fo. 433.

25. A paper concerning the King's power of dispensing with the Test Act. fo. 445.

Num. 253, 254.

26. Divers collections from the Rolls concerning knight service and knighthood, partly in the hand-writing of Attorney General Noy. fo. 447.

27. A confirmation of the charter granted by Ed. I. to foreign merchants. fo. 489.

28. A duplicate of article 16. fo. 503.

29. The substance of the Earl of Shaftesbury's speech in the Court of King's Bench, when he was brought thither by Habeas Corpus, June 29, 1677. fo. 519.

30. "The opinyon of the auncient Doctors of the lawe, whether it bee lawfull for a Prince to license his subject to deteyne the body and goods of that Prince's subject which wrongeth." fo. 521.

See article 14 in the next ensuing volume.

31. Depositions taken before the Lords committees concerning the murder of the Earl of Essex. fo. 530.

32. "Precedents about adhering, &c." fo. 554.

33. "An answer made by M^r Fanshawe, or rather a declaration of his opinion touching those articles beginning here as followeth concerning the Lord Treasurer's office, and this answer was made at the request of the Lord Buckhurst. What every one of the Court of Exchequer doe by virtue of his office." fo. 558.

Imperfect at the end.

254. folio.

Another volume of miscellaneous collections, similar to the last, and containing,

1. A calendar of the Rolls and Privy Seals in the Pell Office, from 1 Edw. I. to 43 Eliz. fo. 1.

2. An argument on Admiralty jurisdiction in the case of Cremor v. Tokeley, in the hand-writing of Attorney General Noy. fo. 20.

3. Determination of the rights of the Lord Admiral in Privy Council, 6 March 1665. fo. 35.

7. M^r Thynne's Description of the Earldom and county of Pembroke. fo. 61.

8. M^r Thynne on the Gentry, Yeomen, and Esquires of England. fo. 67.

N.B. These discourses were delivered by Mr. Thynne at the meetings of the Society of Antiquaries in the reign of Elizabeth, and some of them are stated to be in his own hand-writing. From what M^r Hearne has said in the preface to his antiquarian discourses, similar speeches appear to have been made by M^r Tate, unless they have been confounded with the above.

9. A description of the King's Courts of Records, and of his Houshold; of the Nobility of England, the Council of the North of Wales and the Marches; of the Admiralty, the Armoury, and the Mints; of His Majesty's towns of war, castles, bulwarkes and fortresses; of the islands, havens, and harbours of England and Wales; and of His Majesty's houses, parks, forests, and chaces. 257. folio.

A very fair transcript, on vellum, made about the time of James I. of a part of the record* usually intitled "Testa de Nevill, sive Liber Feodorum in curia Scaccarii," and compiled in the reign of Edw. I. † It contains an account of fees held immediately of the King, or of persons holding of the King in capite; of serjeanties held of the King, escheats, scutage-money, &c.

This work has been printed by order of the Commissioners appointed by His present Majesty for the arrangement and préservation of the public records of the kingdom.

It is to be observed, that the present manuscript is a copy of one only of the volumes of the Testa de Nevill preserved in the Exchequer, and constitutes the latter moiety of the printed copy, beginning with the county of Kent.

Mr. Le Neve, to whom it once belonged, refers, in a note at the beginning, to another copy in the Heralds Office.

258. folio.

A volume usually intitled "Cardinal Wolsey's Negotiations," being copies of letters and state papers written between the years 1516 and 1525; with a table of contents, and some explanatory notes in the margin by some former possessor of the manuscript.

The contents of this collection, (which is not very uncommon in MS.) having already been detailed in the description of a duplicate copy in the Harleian library, No. 6260, it has not been thought necessary to repeat them here: but it may be useful to remark, that there is extant a larger and more valuable assemblage of these state papers, two copies of which will be found in the Harleian library, Nos. 6345 and

* The term "record" is here adopted in conformity to the general mode of speaking of the T. de Nevill; but it should seem that in reality it was none. It is described as follows, in a petition in parliament, anno 7 Edw. III. No. 3. "Une livre qe hom̃e appele Teste de Nevill assemble des Enquestes de office, qe n'est pas de record." Rolls of Parl. and see the latter part of the next note.

† This appears from the following note or memorandum at the beginning of this volume (transcribed from the original). "Memorandum, quod iste liber compositus fuit et compilatus de diversis inquisitionibus ex officio captis tempore Regis E. fil' R. H., et sic contenta in eodem libro pro evidentiis habeantur hic in Scaccario et non pro recordo."

Num. 258, 259.

7185, the latter being very imperfect. The whole of the present collection is contained in the other; but the arrangement of the materials is not the same. By whom they were respectively made does not appear; but, so far as regards the hand-writing of the different manuscripts, they are comparatively modern, and by no means approaching to the period to which they relate. There is reason for supposing that the originals have been used by Lord Herbert in his Life of Henry VIII. and some of them have been printed at the end of Dr. Fiddes's Life of Cardinal Wolsey, from a manuscript corresponding with the present volume. Compare also with Harl. 297.

Neither of these manuscript collections is to be confounded with a printed book likewise intitled "Negotiations of Cardinal Wolsey," which is no more than the first edition of Mr. Cavendish's well-known, but dishonestly published, Life of the Cardinal.

259. folio.
